WHOIS API 2024 Q2 Update

Posted on May 8, 2024

Dear WHOIS API Customers,

We're proud to share that for over a decade, our commitment to maintaining and enhancing the WHOIS API has been unwavering. Continual improvement is at the core of our service philosophy, and we make regular updates to ensure our APIs meet the highest standards of performance, accuracy, and security.

In just the last year, we've implemented several enhancements, including:

- Increased query speed and more efficient data handling

- Broader data coverage and improved accuracy of information retrieval

- Enhanced security measures to protect the data integrity and privacy of users

Our development team is dedicated to staying ahead of industry changes, and we actively adapt our services to incorporate the latest technology trends and customer feedback. This ongoing process helps us ensure that our API not only meets, but exceeds, the evolving needs of our users.

Please let us know if you have any questions, or if there's anything specific you'd like to learn about our recent updates. We're here to help, and to ensure your experience with our service is seamless and satisfactory.
